

Life Sciences Insurance

Hamilton Select

Hamilton Select's Life Sciences Division offers specialized primary and excess coverage solutions for a broad range of life sciences risks.

We write primary and excess products-completed operations liability, general liability, and professional liability, with the capability to cover hard-to-place and distressed accounts, including start-ups, new or emerging products and technologies, clinical-stage risks, accounts with prior losses, non-renewals, and other underwriting complexities.

With specialized knowledge of evolving life sciences exposures, our underwriting team develops thoughtful coverage solutions for accounts across a broad range of products, technologies, and stages of development.
